WEEKLY NEW ERA.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

HOPKINSVILLE, CHRISTIAN COUNTY, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY, JUNE 28, 1917

VOLUME XXVI, NO. 33

TERM IS COMPLETED

CIRCUIT JUDGE COOK LEAVES FOR MURRAY.

Few Sensational Cases Were Tried But a Large Amount of Business Was Transacted.

(From Thursday's Daily)
Circuit court completed its business for this term this morning and session finally adjourned in time for Judge Cook and his two sons, who have been visiting here, to catch the 11:20 train for their home at Murray.

While this term has not been conspicuous for the number of sensational cases presented, it has been one of the busiest terms held at this time of the year for a long time. The juries were dismissed over a week ago and since that time the wheels of justice have been grinding steadily and at a good rate of speed as a result of which many important cases, and some which were of long standing, have been adjudicated. The commonwealth was very busy and quite a nice amount was realized in fines. Equity cases were numerous.

PEMBROKE COMPANY

Articles of incorporation have been filed here for the Pembroke Home Telephone company, the capital stock being $40,000 divided into 1600 shares of $25 each, which is equally divided between common and preferred. The incorporators are Frank A. Hoge, Frank B. Gill, Gustav Hirsch, K. P. Cross and R. E. Cooper. The company is to begin business on July 1 and to continue for a period of fifty years, the indebtedness at no time exceeding the amount of capital stock. The company for the purpose of doing a general telephone business in Pembroke and adjacent thereto.

Main Street Runaway

Frightened at an automobile, a horse belonging to S. U. Woodbridge and hitched a buggy ran off yesterday afternoon on South Main street. The buggy was badly smashed. The horse escaped injury.

CHAMBERS-WHITLATCH

(From Thursday's Daily.)
Miss Mary Belle Chambers and Dr. Charles H. Whitlatch were joined this afternoon in the holy bonds of wedlock. The ceremony was performed at 3 o'clock at the handsome country home of the bride's relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Livingston Leavell. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. W. L. Nourse, who impressively pronounced the rites. The attendants were Misses Hallie Leavell and Laura Chambers and Messrs.

Charles Meacham, Jr., and Robert Henry. The bride is highly accomplished and attractive and one of the prettiest girls in Christian county. Only a few weeks ago her loveliness won her the second prize in the Kentucky New Era's beauty contest. The fortunate bridegroom is a successful young professional man of Louisville. Dr. and Mrs. Whitlatch will leave this afternoon for Louisville where they will make their home.

11,200 POPULATION

Is Shown By Directory Just Issued By the Kentuckian

The new city directory which was issued by the Kentuckian has been generally circulated over the city and is a most creditable book. Besides giving the names and addresses of the citizens of the town it contains much information of general interest. It gives Hopkinsville a population of 11,200.

WHOLE TRAIN LOAD

(From Tuesday's Daily)

The special train of six cars having on board the Nashville Boosters, rolled into the Illinois Central station here at 1 o'clock this afternoon, this being thirty minutes later than the schedule. A large delegation of members of the Hopkinsville Commercial club and business men were present at the depot to welcome the Boosters and after a brief season of handshaking and getting acquainted, the Boosters' band took the lead and the visitors and local citizens marched up Ninth to Virginia and then to Hotel Latham where in the lobby the speeches of welcome from Hopkinsville and those of appreciation from the Boosters were delivered from the first landing of the main stairway as a platform. In all of these speeches the utmost good feeling and fellowship was evidenced.

ELECTION IS HELD

Green River Lodge No. 54, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, met in regular session Monday night and elected officers as follows:
W. J. Witty, noble grand.
I. P. Duke, vice grand.
W. C. Wright, secretary.
W. H. Fyke, treasurer.
Green H. Champlin was elected trustee for the long term.

TOBACCO TRUST

WASHINGTON, June 22.—It is expected that proceedings will be inaugurated by the department of justice before the end of the present month against three or more large corporations. The first will be against the American Tobacco company, and the suit in that case will probably be filed within the next week. Action against the International Harvester company and against the combination of powder manufacturers will follow. In each of these cases the department of justice has practically completed its preliminary work and by the beginning of the fiscal year bills will be filed in United States courts in various jurisdictions.

July 10 is the last day for taking advantage of the New Era's free phonograph offer. Better get one.

IN MEMORIAM

Grand mother, Mrs. Louisa Atwood, died at the home of Mrs. M. E. Turner Saturday morning after being confined to her room for several months. She was in her eighty-seventh year. She was one of a family of eleven children. Is only survived by two brothers, Silas Franklin, of Texas, and Richard Franklin, of Marshall County, Ky. She has two children living yet of a family of six. Dr. B. F. Atwood, of Parua, Mo., and Mrs. M. E. Turner, of Cerulean Springs, Ky. She is survived by twenty-one grand children and thirty-two great grand children. Her remains were laid to rest Saturday afternoon in the Turner burying ground at Cerulean Springs in the presence of a large number of sorrowing friends and relatives.

She had been a consistent and intelligent member of the Primitive Baptist church for more than fifty years. She was a great Bible student. On account of her afflictions she found it quite difficult to sleep at night for many years before she died and to pass the time away she would set a lamp by the side of her bed and read the Bible, sometimes nearly all night.

She bore her last afflictions with much patience. She had been a widow for twenty years and had made her home, during that time, with her children. Farewell dear grandmother. We have good reason to believe you are now resting where pain and sorrow never enter.

A GRANDCHILD.

Pretty Clover Fete.

One of the most enjoyable evenings of the season was spent at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Whitlatch last Thursday when a group of about forty young ladies and gentlemen were assembled at a pretty clover fete, given by Miss Mary Whitlatch and Mr. Dan Perry, assisted by Miss Kathleen Garrett. The spacious grounds were beautifully decorated with oriental lights while from the sky the moon looked down and filled the whole scene with mystic splendor. The long front gallery was elaborate with pink and white clover, in the midst of which stood a floral booth, at which Miss Mary T. Garrett presided, serving delicious punch, while from parlors floated sweet strains of piano, violin and voice.

After refreshments of creams and other delicacies a contest for prizes was gleefully entered into. At first it seemed that Miss Virginia Butler and Edward Mosely would surely be victors, but upon count by committee, Misses Nell Stewart, Eva Quarles and Mrs. Edna Perry, the box of Huyler's candy was handed to Miss Mary West and Waller Pendleton.

At a late hour the happy couples wheeled homeward amid songs of "moonlight, music, love" and white clover blossoms.

The New Era's free phonograph offer will close on July 10. Don't be left out of this marvelous offer.

IN NEIGHBORHOODS

WHAT IS GOING ON IN AND AROUND TRENTON

Carnival Has Folded Its Tents And Vanished.—Some Items of Interest From Dogwood.

The carnival has come and gone. Long will the thoughts of red lemonade and peanuts dwell in the minds of the little folks.

Tobacco setting is the order of the day now. The good rains that fell last Monday even gave zest to our people. Now that the tobacco is about all set, corn all thinned and wheat all cut you can see that hope of gladness protruding from the farmer's eyes.

The lawn tennis craze has struck this town. There are six or eight courts here. It affords quite a lot of amusement for the young folks.

A specialty of the carnival was a free-for-all fight among the negroes of the Old Plantation show. Six of them danced to the music of Judge Small, while Capt. S. H. Byars called the set for $5.00 and the cost $8.40. Of course the six negroes did not enjoy it, but the spectators at the courtroom did. It was free.

Hopkinsville unloaded on us last Saturday three drummers, large T. G. Hiser, medium Wallace Blades, and very small Tom Stevens. Three cleverer men never lived in Hopkinsville, and all we can say to the boys is "Come again; you are always welcome."

Circuit court will soon convene at Elkton. The boys will soon begin to visit their faraway kinsfolks and fish and hunt.

The potato bug convention has adjourned and all but a few bush whackles have gone home. They transacted quite a lot of business here. They resolved to totally destroy the Irish potato crop next year. A committee was appointed by them to wait on the Paris green people and the lime works.

There is quite a lot of sickness in this part at present, such as mumps, fever and chills.

DOGWOOD DOINGS

Rev. J. H. Page filled his regular appointment at the Baptist church Saturday and Sunday. Rev. T. T. Powell addressed the audience Sunday night.

Miss Marcella West is quite sick at present.

Miss Eva Underwood is visiting relatives at Sinking Fork this week.

Mrs. Joe Pyle, of Henderson, arrived here Sunday to spend several weeks with relatives.

Miss Myres Fruit is visiting her cousins Misses Lizzie and Georgia Fruit this week.

There will be an ice cream supper at Barren Springs Baptist church the second Saturday night in July if not providentially hindered. Everybody is invited to come and take part. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the church.

Mr. J. J. Barnes, of Hopkinsville, was in our community one day last week.

Mr. E. C. Davis, and wife, of Cannon School House, were the guests of Mrs. Ida Simmons' family Sunday.

Several young people from here attended the moonlight at Mrs. Bob Wells' Saturday night at Fruit Hill.

Mr. E. M. Barnes and wife were in the city last week on business.

Mr. D. R. Turner and wife celebrated the fortieth anniversary of their marriage last Thursday by taking a trip to Dawson Springs. Mrs. Turner has not been enjoying very good health for several months but is somewhat improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Jenkins have returned to their home at Paris, Tenn., after several days' visit to Mr. J. W. Elliott's family.

Miss Mary Penn is at home again with her father, Mr. G. T. Penn and sister, Miss Sarah T. Penn.

Miss Alice Goodwin is at home again from school at Lexington, Ky.

Mrs. M. E. Turner went to Dawson Springs last Thursday for a few days.

Mrs. Ella Caldwell, of near Martin, Tenn., is on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ladd, of the Montgomery neighborhood.

Mrs. J. W. Pursley and children, of Hopkinsville, were here Sunday on a visit to Mrs. R. J. Elliott.

J. W. Francis and wife were in Hopkinsville Monday. Mr. Francis was looking after new material for the building he intends to erect this summer.

Mrs. Jerdie Stepp has been quite sick for several days. She has improved some, but is not able to leave her room yet.

The ladies of the Methodist church met Sunday afternoon and organized a Foreign Mission Society.

Mrs. A. E. Blakely has improved in health after several weeks illness.

DETECTIVE KILLED

The Princeton Leader gives an account of the tragic death Friday of Frank Akridge, aged 55, for many years town marshal of Fredonia and noted in Western Kentucky as a detective. He left Marion, where he conducted a detective bureau, just a few hours before his dead body was discovered and was in the best of health and spirits. He was found in a sitting position in his buggy in Livingstone creek. A bullet had almost penetrated his body, entering the center of his breast. His pistol was found in the bottom of the buggy, and the theory is that it was accidentally discharged. Detective Akridge leaves a widow and four children, one being Marshal John Akridge, of Fredonia. The body was buried Saturday at Eddyville.

CHAPTER III.

T WAS well agreed by the fashion of Bath that M. le Duc de Chateaurien was a person of sensibility and haut ton, that his retinue and equipage surpassed in elegance, that his person was exquisite, his manner engaging. In the company of gentlemen his ease was slightly tinged with graciousness (his single equal in Bath being his grace of Winterset), but it was remarked that when he bowed over a lady's hand his air bespoke only a gay and tender reverence.

He was the idol of the dowagers within a week after his appearance. Matrons warmed to him. Young belles looked sweetly on him, while the gentlemen were won to admiration or envy. He was of prodigious wealth. Old Mr. Bickst, who dared not, for his fame's sake, fail to have seen all things, had visited Chateaurien under the present duke's father and descended to the curious upon its grandeur. The young noble had one fault. He was so poor a gambler. He cared nothing for the hazards of a die or the turn of a card. Gayly admitting that he had been born with no spirit of adventure in him, he was sure, he declared, that he failed of much happiness by his lack of taste in such matters.

But he was not long wanting the occasion to prove his taste in the matter of handling a weapon. A certain led-captain, Rohrer by name, notorious, among other things, for bearing a dexterous and blood-thirsty blade, came to Bath post haste one night and jostled heartily against him in the pump room on the following morning. M. de Chateaurien bowed and turned aside without offense, continuing a conversation with some gentlemen near by. Captain Rohrer jostled against him a second time. M. de Chateaurien looked him in the eye and apologized pleasantly for being so much in the way. Thereupon Rohrer procured an introduction to him and made some observations derogatory to the valor and virtue of the French.

There was current a curious piece of gossip of the French court: A prince of the blood royal, grandson of the late regent and second in the line of succession to the throne of France, had rebelled against the authority of Louis XV., who had commanded him to marry the Princess Henrietta, cousin to both of them. The princess was reported to be openly devoted to the cousin who refused to accept her hand at the bidding of the king, and, as rumor ran, the prince's caprice elected in preference the discipline of Vincennes, to which retirement the furious king had consigned him. The story was the staple gossip of all polite Europe, and Captain Rohrer, having in his mind a purpose to make use of it in leading up to a statement that should be general to the damage of all Frenchwomen and which a Frenchman might not pass over as he might a jog of the elbow, repeated it with garbled truths to make a scandal of a story which bore none on a plain relation.

He did not reach his deduction. M. de Chateaurien, breaking into his narrative, addressed him very quietly. "Monsieur," he said, "none but swine deny the nobleness of that good and gentle lady, Mlle. la Princesse de Bourbon-Conti. Every Frenchman knows that her cousin is a bad rebel and ingrate, who had only honor and respect for her, but was so willful he could not let even the king say, 'You shall marry here, you shall marry there.' My friend," the young man turned to the others, "may I ask you to close round in a circle for one moment? It is clearly shown that the Duke of Orleans is a scurvy fellow, but not"—he wheeled about and touched Captain Rohrer on the brow with the back of his gloved hand—"but not so scurvy as thou, thou swine of the gutter!"

Two hours later, with perfect ease, he ran Captain Rohrer through the left shoulder, after which he sent a basket of red roses to the Duke of Winterset. In a few days he had another captain to fight. This was a ruffling buck who had the astounding indiscretion to proclaim M. de Chateaurien an imposter. There was no Chateaurien, he swore. The Frenchman laughed in his face and, at twilight of the same day, plucked him carefully through the right shoulder. It was not that he could not put aside the insult to himself, he declared to Mr. Molyneux, his second, and the few witnesses, as he handed his wet sword to his lackey—one of his station could not be insulted by a doubt of that station—but he fought in the quarrel of his friend Winterset. This rascal had asserted that M. le Duc had introduced an imposter. Could he overlook the insult to a friend, one to whom he owed his kind reception in Bath? Then, bending over his fallen adversary, he whispered, "Naughty man, tell your master find some

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT RHEUMATISM

The cause of Rheumatism is a sour, acid condition of the blood, brought about by indigestion, chronic constipation, and the accumulation in the system of refuse matter which the natural eliminative organs have failed to carry out. This refuse or waste matter ferments and sours, generating uric acid which is absorbed into the blood and distributed to all parts of the body, and Rheumatism gets possession of the system. One may also be born with a predisposition or tendency to Rheumatism, because like all blood diseases it can be transmitted from parent to child. The aches and pains of the disease are only symptoms which you may scatter or relieve with liniments, plasters, blisters, etc., or deaden with opiates. As soon, however, as such treatment is left off or there is any exposure to cold or dampness, or after an attack of indigestion or constipation, the wandering pains, sore muscles and joints, and tender places on the flesh return, and the sufferer finds that he has merely checked the symptoms while the real cause of the disease remains in the blood. Rheumatism can never be cured while the blood remains saturated with irritating, pain-producing uric acid poison. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism by driving the cause out of the blood. It thoroughly cleanses the blood and renovates the circulation by neutralizing the acids and expelling all foreign matter from the system. S. S. S. stimulates and invigorates the blood so that instead of a weak, sour stream, constantly depositing acid and corrosive matter in the muscles, joints, nerves and bones, the body is soothed and nourished by rich, health-sustaining blood, which completely and permanently cures Rheumatism. S. S. S. is composed of pure and barks which possess both purifying and tonic properties—in every case of Rheumatism. Book on Rheumatism THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

better quarrel for the next time against me."

The conduct of M. de Chateaurien was pronounced admirable. There was no surprise when the young foreigner fell naturally into the long train of followers of the beautiful Lady Mary Carisle nor was there great astonishment that he should obtain marked favor in her eyes, shown so plainly that my Lord Townsbroke, Sir Hugh Guilford and the rich Squire Bantison, all of whom had followed her through three seasons, swore with rage, and his grace of Winterset stalked from her aunt's house with black brows.

Meeting the duke there on the evening after his second encounter, de Chateaurien smiled upon him brilliantly. "It was badly done, eh, so badly!" he whispered. "Can you afford to have me strip of my mask by any but yourself? You, who introduces me? They will say there is some bad scandal that I could force you to be my godfather. You must get the courage yourself."

"I told you a rose had a short life," was the answer. "Oh, those roses! 'Tis the very greatest rizzon to gather each day a fresh one." He took a red bud from his breast for an instant and touched it to his lips.

"M. de Chateaurien!" It was Lady Mary's voice. She stood at a table where a vacant place had been left beside her. "M. de Chateaurien, we have been waiting very long for you."

The duke saw the look she did not know she gave the Frenchman, and he lost countenance for a moment.

"We approach a climax, eh, monsieur?" said M. de Chateaurien.

Talmage Sermon

By Rev.
Frank De Witt Talmage, D. D.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 23.—In this sermon the preacher shows that as yet to a life of real achievement and usefulness is to live up to our privileges by laying hold of the divine promises in good faith and expecting large things. The text is John 11, 7, "And they filled them up to the brim." If there is any passage in the Bible which teaches us to expect big things from God it is the sentence which I have chosen for my text. When Jesus commanded the servants at the feeding of the multitude to fill up the water pots they did not go grumbling around saying: "Oh, what is the use? What the guests need is wine, not water. Besides, Jesus is not asking us to fill one water pot, but six of them. Why, those six water pots will hold 135 gallons. Think of the distance we will have to travel down to the well to get that water! Think of all the fun and the music and the songs we will lose while we are gone!" No, those young men spoke not thus. They obeyed orders. If they had known what was about to occur they would have said, "If Christ can change the water into wine, then the more water we have the more wine we shall have." So they took their buckets and started off for the well. They kept emptying the water into the water pots until the water ran over the tops of the water pots. "And they filled them up to the brim." They did big things for God and they got big things. May we today learn to have "a brimful faith." May we expect God to bless us mightily in every department of life and in our youth and middle age and old age and make great preparations for the coming spiritual blessings.

Let us, in the first place, have a brimful faith in reference to our prayers. Let us learn that prayer to God is not a narrow ledge of rock upon the side of a mighty precipice where we must stand trembling and pleading for eternal life or else our feet will slip and we will tumble into the bottomless pit. But prayer is the broad invitation God gives to his children to come and talk with him and ask what they will, and he will grant their requests if it is best for them to be granted. Prayer is a promissory note that God puts into our hands, and we are encouraged to fill it out liberally. Prayer is the hold we have on the power that is capable of recreating ourselves and recreating our dear ones and lowering the bars so that we can enter into great fields of usefulness. Prayer is the most vital spiritual power we have on earth. With it we can catch the ear of the Lord God Almighty, and he will listen to our petitions and grant them if it is best for us and for those for whom we pray. What says the Bible? Is there any limitation to the petitions we are to make to God? Nay. All things will be granted for our best welfare if these petitions are made in the spirit of Jesus Christ. "Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you." But, though this sweeping invitation is given to make our prayers as big as heaven itself, some of the most miserable and contemptible and insignificant things in the world are those we ask in the circumscribed and limited petitions which we make to God through the gateway of prayer.

Narrow Ideas.

In our ideas of prayer we are just as narrow bounded as are the ideas of some men born away back in the country who have never seen a steam engine, who have never learned to read a newspaper and who have never been to a village of larger population than 200 inhabitants. You go to such a man and say, "My friend, how would you like to go to New York and see the greatest metropolis of the new world?" He answers: "No, I don't want to go. Why, some of the men down at the village store tell me that the buildings there are twenty times higher than my barn. Why, I would be afraid to go there for fear they would fall down and crack my skull open. And they say the street cars run so fast that they kill people there every day. And they say there are a lot of thieves and murderers there. No New York for me. I prefer to live here in my quiet diggings, where I am not in danger of being killed every step I take." But I say: "My friend, you are not going to keep your children here in the backwoods. There are no schools or churches here. You have a poor, miserable shack of a house, with no carpets on the floors and no pictures upon the walls. Are you going to let your children grow up as ignorant as you are?" "Well," answers the old backwoodsman, "I do not know that book learning does a man any good. The children have enough to eat. They have enough clothes to wear. They have a room in which to sleep. What the good of stockings and underclothes? They do not help a man to get any warmer. And then a little does not hurt anybody. I have lived for nigh on to fifty years in these woods without learning how to read or write, and I guess the children no better than their father is. If I do as I have done I guess they do the same." You see that man is a nimal, a simple animal. The great world, with its music and books and knowledge and joys and hopes, is beyond his vision. His horizon is a cabbage patch. But that cabbage patch he cannot see. Is the circumscribed horizon of some of us in our prayers. We can never get beyond the mere animal petitions of the lower, grosser ideas of prayer.

Foolish Prayers.

Instead of starting with a great sweep of holy desires to benefit all mankind through prayer, instead of filling up six great water pots with petitions for God's honor and glory, we come to God with a little thimble filled with our selfish desires, and we call that prayer. Thus some of us go on year in and year out making a lot of miserable little selfish petitions and call those petitions prayer. Not for years have we broadened the scope of our spiritual horizon. Not for years have we made one prayer big enough to obliterate self and take in God's glory and honor. The way some of us make poor, puny, silly, selfish prayers is enough to make the angels in heaven laugh were it not for the fact that those prayers are so tragic.

Oh, that you and I could grow big enough in divine grace to make the prayer which Paul made when in the epistle to the Romans he wrote, "I have great heaviness and continual sorrow in my heart, for I could wish that myself were accursed from Christ for my brethren, my kinsmen, according to the flesh." That means in plain English: "O God, save my people; save the Jews, the men of my own race. I would die for them. I would even forfeit my own hope of salvation if by that means they might be won for Christ." Do we ever make such a prayer as that? Do we make our prayers so big that in their desires they will girdle the earth round and round and embrace the salvation of the whole world? I tell you, if we are going to make a full use of the privilege of prayer, our prayers will have to be made bigger than the little, puny, selfish desires of our hearts.

Shall we ever grow bigger than self? Are we living and praying for our own personal ends? Thank God, all men are not living and praying for themselves. There are thousands and tens of thousands, some of them far poorer than we, who are living and praying for others. Listen to this remarkable history: During the famous London dock strike of a few years ago a young man sitting at his breakfast table and reading the story of suffering in the papers suddenly said, "I have no right to all this plenty while so many are starving." So he went and drew all his money out of the bank. Then he bought a lot of food and started out to find the homes of the strikers. He went to a street near the docks and stopped before one of the biggest tenements and asked the landlady if there were any hungry around. She answered, "Lots of them." Then she told the young man upon what doors of her own house he would find those who were in the worst need. He went from room to room. In some of those rooms the men and the women who were starving would not touch his food because their neighbors were worse off than they. "It ain't that I'm above being helped," said one gaunt, haggard man, "but I've got enough food to keep in and make out for one week more. If the strike ain't off by then I'll take help and thank you. But there's worse off than we are now, and they must be helped first." At last the young man returned to the landlady who had directed him among the starving and bluntly said, "When did you eat anything last?" "Oh, I had something to eat day before yesterday. You know they cannot pay their rents now, and I have to keep them." "But you never asked me for bread. Why not?" "Because," said the brave woman, "I know of some of them upstairs who have not had a morsel of food for three days, and I wanted you to help them first." Wherever that young man went during that London dock strike he found starving men and women, thinking not so much for themselves as for others. Thus may we breathe forth our prayers. May we pray for others. May we be able to say, "O God, for thy honor and glory may I live and may I die." Let us fill the six water pots to the brim when we lift up our petitions to God.

Amplify Your Prayers.

Amplify your prayers. Make them big enough to take in the necessities of the whole human race. But do not stop there. After you have prayed thus go forth with the confidence that God will answer your prayers upon a big scale. The trouble with a great many of us is that we pray big and then plan small. We lay out our designs for a St. Peter's or a Milan or a Seville cathedral. Then we materialize our designs into mortar and brick by building a little meeting house or a village church or a roadside barn or a hen coop.

One of the small cities of England wished to build a large cathedral. The citizens came to a famous London architect and asked him to design one which would cost $1,000,000. After the elaborate design had been completed the committee came back and asked the architect if he would cut down his design and build instead a church worth $75,000. With that the successful architect said, "Gentlemen, cannot you make it 30 shillings more so we can throw in a fine spire?" Thus some of us in our prayers have been petitioning God for a St. Peter's cathedral. We have laid out our prayers upon the most elaborate scale. We have asked for the conversion of the world. We have pleaded for the emancipation of the human race from the tyranny of sin. We have asked for everything we ought to have asked for. But when it comes to filling up the water pots to the brim we say: "What is the use? If we can get God to answer our prayers a thimbleful, that is all we have a right to expect." We ask for a fine cathedral; then we are satisfied to plan for a village meeting house or a little mud hut. Now, my friends, you have no right to ask God for big things unless you at the same time go forward in triumphant faith, planning to work out your prayers, expecting God to answer your petitions in due time.

He Got the Funds.

"The great trouble with some people," said a famous speaker I once heard, "is this: They ask God for a certain blessing; they declare that they make their petitions in good faith; then after they arise from their knees they never expect God to answer their prayers. Now, when I was in the army I ran out of money. I had to have a certain amount to meet necessary expenses. So I wrote home to my father and told him my needs. I told him what I wanted. I knew he would send me that money, because what I wanted was right to have, and my father was financially able to meet my wants. So I wrote to my father to send my money to a certain postoffice, as I expected to be there in about three weeks. Upon the faith which I had in my father I went ahead and supplied my necessities, and when I arrived at the postoffice I got my money as I expected. Now, that is the way we should honor God. We should believe in him. We should ask big things of him. And then we should go forth in simple faith, expecting that he will answer our prayers." No man ever spoke truer words than these.

The more I pondered upon this part of my subject the more I remembered that the greatest workers for Jesus Christ have been men who had no financial capital save their faith. They lived in one sense up to the last cent of their income. They prayed for big things, and then, having deliberately and calmly made up their minds that God wanted them to undertake big things, they went ahead and built their hospitals and started their reformatory movements, and their money came when it was needed, as the manna of the wilderness came day by day to feed the Israelites when they were on their way to the Promised Land. Some time ago there came into my possession a book with this suggestive title, "Faith of Trust." It is written in the ancient style. These pages after pages are filled with the answers men have received to their prayers. As I turned these leaves over I said to myself: "If all these stories are true, how negligent have I and other men been of this mighty power! One fact I know—if all the answers that God has sent to prayer have been written down, if only the instances in which God came to the aid of his children, how many big things for God who were doing big things for him because they had asked of him big things, I suppose that even the world itself could not contain the books that would be written."

Faith in Men.

But not in prayer alone is a brimful gospel faith necessary. We must have faith in the men and the women by whom we are surrounded if we would accomplish great things for his honor and glory. We must believe that God can enter into the hearts of our friends and regenerate them into mighty spiritual forces for good and the glory of our lives and make us mighty spiritual agencies. Paul writes in one of his epistles, "I can do all things through Christ, who strengtheneth me." Paul had a right to say that. I have a right to say that about myself. And I also have a right to say that about every man, woman and child with whom I come in contact in daily life. Now, there is no human power which will more quickly make a man a useful servant of Jesus Christ than the divine faith which we have in our brothers and sisters that through God they can do all things.

But the great trouble with our attempt to reclaim men is this: When men and women start to do wrong, when they begin to wander down into the paths of sin, the world loses faith in these sinners. With these sinners try to come back to the straight paths of purity and truth the world fights them back and turns toward them the cold shoulder of indifference and doubt. And after the world loses faith in a man, then the time is not far distant when that man will lose faith in himself, and then—God pity him! For, with a jump, he will leap over the precipice of despair. Oh, faith, thou mighty faith, thou faith by which Abel sacrificed and Enoch walked and Abraham went forth into an unknown land to find an inheritance for his children; oh, faith, thou mighty faith, by which Joseph ruled and Moses led the children of Israel forth from their Egyptian bondage and with which Joshua rocked down the Jericho walls; oh, faith, thou mighty faith, with which Peter and James and Mary Magdalene banded the knee to worship Christ; oh, faith, thou mighty, divine faith, shall we not lay hold of thee and through the power of the Holy Spirit save our fallen fellow men for God?

Mothers Are Faithful.

Did I say that all the world would lose its faith in a man after a man has sinned seven times seven? Yes, I said that, but I must make one exception. There is always one human being who will never lose faith in us when we have done wrong, and that is our mother. That is the reason why the Christian mother's love is the most potent of all loves for the salvation of a sinner. The mother's faith will not give her children up, and that is the reason why they win so many of their wayward children for Christ. The wardens of one of our prominent state penitentiaries a few years ago was asked if the prisoners' friends, as a rule, continued to visit them. "No," was the reply; "they are usually men who have been a scourge and disgrace to their families. It is a relief to be rid of them. Their friends, their wives and even their children make one or two perfunctory visits at first and then give them up. In the course of a year or two they are forgotten by all, as if they were in their coffins, except by their mothers. Their mothers always come and keep coming and try to influence me in their behalf. No matter how black dyed in crime a ruffian may be, his mother will know some good points to tell me of him. She never wholly loses her faith in him." Is not that O man, the history of our lives? When we did wrong, did not our mothers cling to us so closely that we could not shake them off? And today is not one of the greatest powers by which we may win men to the cross of Jesus Christ the mother faith in our hearts? Oh, that by the grace of God we could all have a mother's faith in those who are treading the path of sin! Would that in the name of Jesus Christ we could cling to men and keep clinging to men until we could see them transformed by the power of the Holy Ghost! Brother, increase your faith in your brother man. See men in gospel vision transformed, redeemed and cleansed of sin by Jesus' atoning blood. Fill up your water pots to the brim.

But, lastly, I remark that we should have a brimful enough to believe that God can as readily answer our prayers today, this hour, if we will only ask him, as he can answer them next month or next year or in the dim future after we are dead. Those servants who filled the water pots did not suppose that Jesus was going to turn that water into wine by slow fermentation, so that it could be bottled and stored away in the cellars. What they wanted was wine at once. Thus, God can answer the prayers of his people at once if he will, can there be any better time for us to ask for an increase in our faith than just now? Have you the kind of faith which I have been describing? Do you ask big things from God? After you ask big things, are you willing to go forward expecting that he will answer your requests? And have you faith that Christ can redeem your dear ones, no matter how low they may be sunk in the quagmire of sin, as well as cleanse your own sinful heart until it becomes white as the driven snow? Do you believe he will do all this if you ask him now, even now, just now? Jesus saith unto them: "Fill up the water pots with water. And they filled them up to the brim." Will you even now expect a divine blessing which comes from a brimful faith?

Thinkers and Doers—A Fable.

A poet, an artist and a philanthropist sat together and talked. Talking was about all they could do, for the poet had not made much of a success of thinking burning thoughts, and the artist had been content to imagine beautiful pictures rather than try to paint them. But the public did not know his ideals, so he was unappreciated. Then, as the philanthropist was without wealth, he could not distribute to the poor anything besides good wishes, which they had in abundance, and good advice, which they did not want. While the three men talked the door opened suddenly and there entered the room a gaunt, haggard old woman whose years had weighed so heavily on her that she was bent nearly double.

"I am Fate," she said in a hollow voice that filled them with awe, "and I am come to let you choose what you will. Each shall have one!"

She could not finish her sentence before they broke in on her.

"Fame!" cried the poet.

"Admiration!" cried the artist.

"Wealth!" cried the philanthropist.

"They shall be yours," said Fate.

"Come."

She led the way to the door and opened it. Then she stepped back in bewilderment. Three persons of very ordinary looks and actions, men who had been earning a living while the others dreamed, were carrying away everything of value about the place.

"Well, I do declare," said Fate, suddenly transformed from the fairy godmother to a chattering old woman, "if these men haven't been and gone to work and carried off the very things I intended for you."

And the other men have them yet—New York Press.

Aged Three, Reads Shakespeare.

At the age of three years and three months Charles Ross Buchanan, son of a farmer at St. Francisville, reads books that the majority of children do not read until they are ten years older. He has excited the notice of educators. Asked what kind of reading he liked best he replied:

"I have just finished reading Shakespeare's 'As You Like It,' but I like Charles Dickens much better."

His mother, who was a schoolteacher at Vincennes, Ind., says Charles spends about four hours each day in reading to her. He has never been to school and seldom plays with other children.

"Ever since he was able to talk he has possessed a craving for learning that has not only puzzled but at times has worried his father and me," said Mrs. Buchanan. "When reading the newspapers he must have details of all the world's happenings and often asks questions. He never has to be told a second time."

"Charles spoke his first words when he was six months old and four months later could talk fluently. He knew his alphabet even before he could talk plainly."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Razay Island.

Razay Island, in the Inner Hebrides, which lies between the mainland of Scotland and the Isle of Skye, has failed to find a purchaser at the upset price of $25,000 placed upon it. Its name is the Scandinavian for "the place of the red deer," and the shooting grounds, with the mansion house and grounds at the southern end, constitute the chief value of the island. Near the northern end are the ruins of Brochel castle, the residence of its ancient lords, the MacLeods. In Celtic lore Razay has a place, and in English literature it is mentioned in Samuel Johnson's "Journey to the Western Islands of Scotland."

The construction of a $75,000 building in Nashville to replace historic McKendree church, which was destroyed by fire two years ago, began this week and the new edifice is to be completed by June 1, 1908, giving Nashville one of the handsomest churches in the south.

Texas is giving out the story of a cyclone that picked up a letter and delivered it to the party to whom it was addressed twenty-five miles away. It begins to look as if the members of Roosevelt's Annanias club are merely amateurs.

The planet Mars will come nearer the earth this summer, than ever before. And with Teddy in the White House, we may have war with one of the neighbors yet.

Rev. I. R. Hicks predicted that terrible wind and electrical storms would sweep over the country this week between Wednesday and Friday, due, he said, to the big sun spot which he claims to have discovered. This is his last day to make good and if his prediction fails, Roosevelt will doubtless declare him eligible as a member of his Annanias club.

Our New Hair Vigor

Ayer's Hair Vigor was good, the best that was made. But Ayer's Hair Vigor, new improved formula, is better. It is the one great specific for falling hair. A new preparation in every way. New bottle. New contents. Ask your druggist to show it to you, "the new kind."

Does not change the color of the hair.

Formula with each bottle. Show it to your druggist.

Ask him about it, then compare it with Ayer's.

As we now make our new Hair Vigor it does not have the slightest effect upon the color of the hair. You may use it freely and for any length of time without fear of changing the color. Stops falling hair. Cures dandruff.

No sartorial rules and regulations can make a slave of the Hon. J. Wesley Gaines, of Tennessee. The other morning Congressman Gaines escorted a bevy of Tennessee beauties through the White House and he was clad in all the shiny glories of a tall silk hat. It was called to his attention that he was guilty of a decided faux pas in thus violating the rules of dress by wearing a silk hat in the forenoon. The Hon. John Wesley, with a snort of disgust retorted that he would be hanged if he would bend the knee to the atrocious and unspeakable stiff derby and that to wear his slouch hat in the presence of such beautiful maidens would have been little less than an insult. Therefore, the Hon. John Wesley made Fashion bow the knee to him.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Lesson XIII.—Second Quarter,
For June 30, 1907.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, I Cor. x, 23-33. Memory Verse, 31—Golden Text, Rom. xiv, 21—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1907, by American Press Association.]

The letter was written to those who were "in Christ Jesus" "waiting for the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ" (chapter i, 2, 7), and the closing words are, "If any man love not the Lord Jesus Christ let him be accursed; the Lord cometh" (xvi, 22). The letter opens with an assurance to the faithfulness of God, who calls unto the fellowship of His Son Jesus Christ our Lord and ends with the exhortation, "Watch ye; stand fast in the faith; quit you like men" (i, 6; xvi, 13). Some of these people had been thieves and drunkards and worse, but were now washed, sanctified, justified and temples of the Holy Ghost through the precious blood of Christ (vi, 9-11, 19, 20). The epistle was written to remind them of their former lost and helpless condition, their redemption through a crucified and risen Christ, the resurrection glory that awaited them in the kingdom, and in view of all this to walk in love, steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord (chapters xiii and xv, 58).

Our lesson is taken from the section of the epistle which concerns the believer's attitude in reference to things offered to idols and his conduct toward those who still worshiped idols (chapters vii to xi, inclusive). The believer, the child of God, given to Christ out of the world, is still left in the world that through him the world may see and know and believe in the Lord Jesus Christ (John xvii, 20-23). The one great question, therefore, for the believer is: How can my life tell most powerfully for Christ—how can the life of Jesus be made manifest in me? (II Cor. iv, 11). The section of the epistle selected for our lesson is a summary of this important matter, beginning with the statement that while it may be perfectly lawful for me to do many things it may not be expedient for me to do them, inasmuch as liberty on my part might not help others.

The lesson closes with the saying that as believers we are not to seek our own profit, but the profit of others, that they may be saved, or, as it is set forth in the closing words of the previous chapter, we are so to keep under, bruise, beat black and blue our body of sin, the self, the old man in us, for the gospel's sake, that we may by all means save some (ix 19-27). If we do otherwise we may find our lives disapproved at the judgment seat of Christ and see our works cast away, burned up and we ourselves saved as by fire (chapter iii, 13-15; II Cor. v, 9, 10).

The opening verses of our lesson chapter tell us of many in Israel who having been redeemed from Egypt failed to enter the promised land because of unbelief and idolatry, not that we are to think of them as lost, but as cut off from present privileges here, even as in chapter xi, 30, we read of believers at Corinth who were sick and dying because of sinful lives when they ought to have been glorifying God. The matter of eating this or not eating that is comparatively a trifling matter, inasmuch as it is not what we eat or drink that necessarily defiles us. See Mark vii, 18, 19.

Note also Col. ii, 16, 17. The life of a child of God is one of perfect freedom to enjoy the riches and fullness of his Father's home, but in such a way as to make others want to belong to the same family. Our eating and drinking and all our conduct before men should be after such a fashion as would lead others to want to know our God. Glorifying God means making Him so glorious in the eyes of others that they shall be drawn to Him, and become His children.

Take any kind of a snapper such as is described in chapter vi, 9, 10, and there is not a single thing that God asks or expects of such in the way of reform to make him a child of God. All such are dead in trespasses and sins and can no more do a thing to save themselves than dead Lazarus could do to get out of that tomb, but the same word that gave Lazarus life can and will give life to any dead sinner. "Hear and your soul shall live." "The gift of God is eternal life." "Look unto me and be saved." "As many as received Him, to them gave He the right or power to become the sons of God" (John i, 3; xiv, 22; Rom. vi, 23; John i, 12). The way of salvation for the sinner through Jesus Christ and His finished work is most plain, but the great hindrance to the selfish, self-seeking, self-indulgent, worldly, domineering, un-Christlike life that so many live who are called by His name.

Temperance means self control, self-renunciation, following Him who never pleased Himself, never sought His own will or His own glory, but came to glorify God and to seek and save the lost. When our one ambition is to please Him, to sanctify Him, to so live Him live in us that people shall be attracted to Him because of us, then we shall have learned the meaning of temperance. This will not be accomplished by any amount of effort on our part or even by striving or agonizing, but by so beholding Him that the glory of His life shall be reproduced in ours by the same spirit who dwelt in Him (I Cor. iii, 13; iv, 6). See also Gal. ii, 20; Rom. vi, 11, 13.

BABY'S DREADFUL CASE OF ECZEMA

Extended Over Entire Body—Mouth Covered With Crusts as Thick as Finger Which Would Bleed and Suppurate—Disease Ate Large Holes in Cheeks—Hands Pinned Down to Stop Agonized Scratching—Three Doctors' Best Efforts Failed to Give Relief.

BUT CUTICURA WORKS A MIRACULOUS CURE

"When my little boy was six months old he had eczema. The sores extended so quickly over the whole body that we at once called in the doctor. We then went to another doctor, but he could not help him, and in our despair we went to a third one. Matters became so bad that he had regular holes in his cheeks, large enough to put a finger into. The food had to be given with a spoon, for his mouth was covered with crusts as thick as a finger, and whenever he opened the mouth they began to bleed and suppurate, as did also his eyes. Hands, arms, chest and back, in short the whole body was covered over and over. We had no rest by day or night. Whenever he was laid in his bed, we had to pin his hands down, otherwise he would scratch his face and make an open sore. I think his face must have looked most fearful."

"We finally thought nothing could help, and I had made up my mind to send my wife with the child to Europe, hoping that the sea air might cure him, otherwise he was to be put under good medical care there. But, Lord be blessed, matters came differently, and we soon saw a miracle. A friend of ours spoke about Cuticura. We made a trial with Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Resolvent, and within ten days or two weeks we noticed a decided improvement. Just as quickly as the sickness had appeared it also began to disappear, and within ten weeks the child was absolutely well, and his skin was smooth and white as never before."

UNUSUAL SUIT

FILED AGAINST JOE A. LEDFORD OF PEE DEE, BY THE STATE.

Petition Charges That Defendant Has Violated His License and That His Place Was a Nuisance.

(From Friday's Daily)

A suit, the like of which has never before been filed in this county and which is regarded as something rather unusual in court circles, was filed today by Commonwealth's Attorney Denny P. Smith in the name of the commonwealth of Kentucky against Joe A. Leford, of Pee Dee, and B. W. Cowherd. The suit prays for $500 damages, charging that Mr. Leford has violated his covenant with the state in his license which permits him to sell liquor only by the quart and under which it is stipulated that it must not be drunk on the premises. Mr. Cowherd is bondsman for Mr. Leford and he is therefore made a party to the suit. The license referred to is said to have been granted on March 23, 1906 and the offenses complained of are alleged to have been committed during the year following.

The complaint made in the petition is as follows:

"Plaintiff says defendant, J. A. Leford, habitually after being granted said license and executing said bond, at his storehouse in Pee Dee, Christian county, Kentucky, from March 23, 1906, to March 23, 1907, did sell spirituous liquors in quantities less than a quart, did sell same to be drunk and suffer same to be drunk on his premises and the adjacent premises, did sell and give spirituous and malt liquors to disorderly and intoxicated persons and to minors and, in his said storehouse, habitually then and there did suffer and permit gaming, cursing, swearing and fighting in said house and adjacent to the same, did then and there suffer large congregations of persons to assemble in and adjacent to said house during said time and drink, become drunken and disorderly to the great annoyance of the citizens living in, visiting and passing the said town of Pee Dee."

"That said defendant, J. A. Leford, by permitting the conduct aforesaid and by his said selling liquors in violation of the law during said time and did allow and induce young men and boys, citizens of the commonwealth to his said place of business, and to contract intemperate and immoral habits. That the unlawful acts and conduct aforesaid, committed by the defendant Leford and suffered by him, as aforesaid, have corrupted the morals of many young men, and the unwholesome influences of his said place have largely destroyed the usefulness and effectiveness of the public schools and churches in and near the said town of Pee Dee, and have therefore greatly damaged plaintiff. Plaintiff says by the acts aforesaid defendants have broken the covenant of said bond and plaintiff should recover of them the full amount thereof."

"Wherefore plaintiff prays judgment for damages against the defendants in the sum of $500 and for her costs herein expended."

Thousands Have Kidney

Trouble and Never Suspect It.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours: a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and seething pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

A Lazy Liver

May be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. It would be a stupid as well as a savage thing to beat a weary or starved man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging, torpid liver it is a great mistake to lash it with strong drastic drugs. A torpid liver is but an indication of an ill-nourished, enfeebled body whose organs are weary with over work. Start with the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in working order and see how quickly your liver will become active. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood-making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the defection of other organs.

If you have bitter or bad taste in the morning, poor or variable appetite, coated tongue, foul breath, constipated or irregular bowels, feel weak, easily tired, despondent, frequent headaches, pain or distress in "small of back," gnawing or distressing feeling in stomach, perhaps nausea, "water-brash" rising in throat after eating, and kindred symptoms of weak stomach and torpid liver, no medicine will relieve you more promptly or cure you more thoroughly than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Perhaps only a part of the above symptoms will be present at one time and yet point to torpid liver or biliousness and weak stomach. Avoid all hot bread and biscuits, griddle cakes and other indigestible food and take the "Golden Medical Discovery" regularly and stick to its use until you are vigorous and strong.

The "Discovery" is non-secret, non-alcoholic, is a glyceric extract of native medicinal roots with a full list of its ingredients printed on each bottle wrapper and attested under oath. Its ingredients are endorsed and extolled by the most eminent medical writers of the age and are recommended to cure the diseases for which it is advised.

Don't accept a substitute of unknown composition for this non-secret medicine OF KNOWN COMPOSITION.

JUDGMENT GIVEN

AGAINST FORMER SHERIFF DAVIS IN TAX PENALTY SUIT.

Court Says He Must Refund $2432.05 to the County.—Case Will Be Appealed at Once

(From Friday's Daily)

In circuit court this morning a judgment for $2432.05 was rendered against former Sheriff L. R. Davis on the petition filed against him by County Attorney Duffy for the recovery of the amounts alleged to have been collected in penalties by Mr. Davis during the year of 1902, 1906 and 1904, while he was in office, and which it is alleged he did not turn over to the state. The suit was originally brought for the four years Mr. Davis was in office but a judgment had been previously returned for the year of 1905.

Mr. Davis' attorney at once filed exceptions to the ruling of the court and will take the case to the court of appeals.

These suits have attracted much attention growing as they did out of the issues raised by Mr. Duffy in the campaign when he was a candidate for the office of county attorney on the Democratic ticket. He charged that the six per cent penalties which were collected on all taxes which were not paid by December 1 of each year, should have gone into the county treasury instead of being kept by the sheriff, which he alleges was done.

Similar action was brought against J. J. Barnes, who was sheriff before Mr. Davis, but it is understood that the hearing of these cases will be postponed until the verdict of the court of appeals is rendered in the Davis case.

SUSPECT THE TRUST

Of a Plot to Disrupt the Dark Tobacco Association.

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn., June 21.—Somewhat of a stir has been created in tobacco circles by a meeting held by members of the Dark Tobacco Growers' Association for the purpose of taking up what is alleged to be a plan of the trust to break up the association by refusing to purchase the dark tobacco controlled by the association in Virginia. A letter from Vice President Bondurant, of Virginia, to officials of the association in this district, states that the trust representatives have refused to purchase the Virginia crop, claiming that they can purchase all of the dark tobacco desired in Kentucky and Tennessee. It is claimed that this is simply a plan to break up the association by compelling the members to break their pledge. As a result of said letter warm resolutions have been passed.

HIGHER SALARIES

ARE AN ABOLUTELY NECESSITY SAY THE STATE TEACHERS

Kentucky Educational Association At Winchester Is Doing Much Good.—Officers Elected.

WINCHESTER, Ky., June 21.—The Kentucky Educational Association received a telegram of greeting from the Press Association meeting in Irvine which recited that the press and the school were the two most potent factors in our civilization. A number of teachers went to Booneborough this morning to visit the site of Boone's fort. All the speeches of the morning's session were on the subject of increased effectiveness of teachers and the most general idea prevailing was that increased salaries were a prime necessity.

Last evening the Federation of Women's clubs had the stage and all the members of its Campaign Committee made addresses: Mrs. Desha Breckinridge, speech on the need of woman suffrage in school elections was unanswerable and one of the most entertaining of the meeting.

Mrs. Lella E. Partridge, of New Jersey, spoke on "Teachers' Teaching." Mrs. John Nolan, of Richmond, on "Normal Schools." G. M. Money, of Shelby county, on "Minimum Salary," and Dr. J. A. Kinnam, of the Bowling Green Normal School, on "Salaries."

Mrs. L. W. Vinson, of Lexington, produced statistics of salaries that were startling.

Officers were elected as follows: C. C. Adams, of Grant county, president; E. H. Crawford, first vice president; C. A. Tanner, second vice president; Mrs. N. G. Falconer, third vice president; N. C. Bell, treasurer.

1500 Pairs of Shoes Bought at Half Price

For the first time in seven years a stock of clean, fresh Shoes is thrown on the market at "Slaughter Pen" prices. For seven years, little by little, shoe leather has been climbing, and it was a fact well known to all merchants that shoes on the shelf were worth a premium anywhere in the world. This condition continued uninterrupted till today, you witness the highest shoe prices seen since the war. In view of the above, it was a happy strike for us, when Messrs. McNEAL & EDWARDS, of Clarksville, were compelled to quit selling Men's and Boys Shoes in order to make room for their other lines. These gentlemen are among the best merchants in Tennessee and carry only the better line of goods. The shoes are all fresh and new and bear McNeal & Edwards name, and for this reason they would not sell them in Clarksville, though they had a much higher bid than ours for their stock from a Clarksville merchant. So when they wrote us to come over and see the stock, and said they would sell it cheap, we were "delighted" and gladly took advantage of the only opportunity we've had for seven years to put on a real old-fashioned cut sale of shoes. If you have watched our advertisements for the past five years, there has been little said about cut price shoes, for we knew the stock we had could not be replaced at near what it cost us. We could sell every pair of these shoes at regular prices, but they cost us about fifty cents on the dollar, and we will give half the profit to our customers, thus carrying out our old time policy of "when we buy a bargain we sell a bargain." Next Tuesday, July 2, we throw the whole lot, 1500 pairs mens and boys shoes and oxfords, on sale and give unrestricted choice at 1-4 off the regular marked price. Nothing like this has been seen here for seven years, it will be many moons before it will happen again. Look this over, tell your friends, and you'll do them a service for which they will thank you
